Rachael focuses on complex civil litigation across a diverse set of practice areas.

Before joining the firm, Rachael served as a law clerk to the Hon. William P. Dimitrouleas of the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of Florida. In this role, she managed half of the judge's civil docket in one of the busiest federal district courts in the nation and recommended final dispositions for over 300 substantive pre-trial and post-trial motions.

During law school, Rachael was a senior articles editor on the Florida Law Review. She also interned at the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of Florida and at the Miami office of a prominent international law firm.
